About the College

Asutosh College, affiliated to the University of Calcutta, was established in 1916 as South Suburban College, under the stewardship of educationist Sir Asutosh Mookerjee. A pioneer institute of education in West Bengal, it has been accredited with 'A' grade by NAAC in 2017 and is presently among the top four affiliated colleges in West Bengal.

About the Department

The department of Communicative English, Asutosh College was established in 2003 with an aim to build communicative competence in learners and make them industry-ready. Beginning with only fourteen students and a single teacher, the department has grown exponentially over the years and boasts of alumni well-placed in India and abroad in companies like Google, British council, Price Waterhouse Coopers, Capgemini, Infosys and Hindustan times. The department presently offers a mixed bag of courses from the domains of communication studies, linguistics, English language teaching, English for specific purposes, media studies and entrepreneurship to students majoring in Communicative English besides offering a course in communication and soft skills to students of other departments.

ENTREPRENEURSHIP BASICS: BEHIND THE SILVER LINING OF FUNDING, POWER, PEOPLE AND RISK
