- Brief Report about the Programme: NostalGeo 2023 was a programme held by the alumni association of Asutosh College to unite old students of Geography with young students. The evolution of Geography department in this college is an example of perfect superiority. This department started in the year of 1949 stretched its students as faculties, researchers, scientists, employees in government and private sector and myriad other field of excellence across India and abroad. The programme had brought together the current batch of students and the passed-out students of Geography department. The trend and pattern of education had changed in due course of time and this reunion platform had brought all of them under one roof and exchange of thoughts was encouraged. To unify with the legends of the department spread across India, online Whatsapp call and recorded video was arranged for the youth to know their alumni seniors of this heritage institution. Cultural activities were organized like photograph competition, painting competition, dance, singing recitation, drama etc. and a lovely lunch were arranged by the alumni members. The event was a grand success for the faculties, students and alumni association members of the college.
- Expected Outcome: A day of union, rejoice, youthfulness and homeliness was Nostalgeo_2023. Eminent retired professors, academicians, working faculties' researchers, scientists, employees in government and private sector and many other field of excellence shared their memories of their college days as well as guided carrier corridors for the youth. How the subject is evolving from hard core field based to software skill oriented to AI based was steered by them. Presents students felt proud, enthusiastic and affection for the development of Geography.
