➤ BRIEF REPORT ABOUT THE EVENT/ PROGRAMME:

The Department of Geography at Asutosh College, in collaboration with the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC), is pleased to announce a special lecture titled “Climatic Extremes and Livelihood Vulnerability among the Indian Sundarban Dwellers: Assessing the Nexus between Poverty and Forced Migration”. This intellectually stimulating session is part of the department's ongoing efforts to foster academic excellence and interdisciplinary dialogue. The lecture will be delivered by Professor Suman Paul from Sidho-Kanho-Birsha University, Puruliya, renowned for his expertise in contemporary geographical studies and his contributions to the field. The session aims to explore the extremes climatic events and their impact on livelihood patterns of Indian Sundarban dwellers. This event is scheduled to take place on Thursday, 21st April, 2025, at 11:00 A.M at the seminar hall in the Centenary Building of Asutosh College. It is expected to draw the participation of students, researchers, and faculty members, creating a platform for exchanging ideas and discussing the future directions of geographical research. Through this initiative, the Department of Geography seeks to inspire attendees, encourage academic innovation, and broaden perspectives on how geography as a discipline adapts to the demands of a rapidly changing world.

➤ EXPECTED OUTCOME:

Participants will gain insights into the advancements and transitions in geographical research and methodologies in the context of extreme climatic events and socio-economic livelihood patterns of the Indian Sundarban dwellers. The lecture aims to enhance academic understanding, stimulate critical thinking, and inspire innovative approaches in geographical studies among students and researchers.
