Date: 04.04.2025

Venue: B.B.A Hall, ACTC Building, Asutosh College

Objective/ Purpose: To share the basic methodologies and purpose for higher research in Geography

Speaker/ Resource Person: Dr. Mafizul Haque

Target Audience/ Participants: UG & PG Students of Department of Geography

Brief report about the event/ Programme:

A special lecture on "Exploring the Research Idea for Beginners" was organized by the Department of Geography, Asutosh College, on April 4, 2025, at the BBA Hall. The session was conducted by Dr. Mafizul Haque, an esteemed faculty member from the Department of Geography, University of Calcutta. The lecture was attended by undergraduate and postgraduate students of geography and was aimed at introducing the foundational concepts of research methodology. Dr. Haque delivered an insightful and engaging talk, focusing on how to conceptualize a research problem, formulate objectives, and develop a workable research design. He highlighted the importance of curiosity, observation, and critical thinking in the early stages of academic research. Using relatable examples, he explained the strategies of selecting a research topic, understanding the research gap, and aligning methodology with research questions. The lecture was well-received by the students, who actively participated in the interaction session. The event provided a valuable platform for aspiring researchers to gain clarity on initiating their research journeys. The department expressed sincere gratitude to Dr. Haque for his enriching contribution and to the college administration for facilitating the event.
