

Report

“International Microorganism Day” Celebration by Students

17 September 2022

International Microorganism Day was commemorated by Semester III and Semester V under graduate students of Dept. of Microbiology, Asutosh College on 17 Sept 2022, Saturday.

Convener:

Dr. Kuntal Kanti Goswami, HOD, Dept. of Microbiology, Asutosh College.

Organizing Committee:

All Faculty Members of Dept. of Microbiology, Asutosh College.

Summary & Benefit of the Programme:

Students illustrated about any microorganism that starts with the letter of their first name, and they participated with enthusiasm and zeal. The event nurtured young minds and inculcated zeal of knowledge about various microorganisms ranging from virus to bacteria and even fungi, viz. Salmonella enterica, Staphylococcus aureus, Aspergillus, etc. were talk of the day. The competition had revealed in students, a professional approach of presentation and self evaluation skill as well as promotion of active learning and collaboration with peers. Students had displayed their idea in form of posters and short drawings which helped them to bridge a knowledge between theoretical as well as their illustrative thinking. There were a total of 8 participants in the program.

Some Glimpse of the Programme

Participants along with Faculty Members

Manojit Majmder, Sayan Mondal, Sanjana Saha & Anirneva Basu of Sem V displaying their posters

Swapno Surabhi Sinha & Saptarshi Ghosh of Sem V displaying their poster

Ayesha Parveen & Debolina Das of Sem V presenting a lecture

Students of Sem III Microbiology

Microbiology Wall Magazine