- BRIEF REPORT ABOUT THE EVENT/ PROGRAMME: This unique event was inaugurated in the presence of our honourable and eminent academic personality, Dr. Sraboni Roy (IQAC coordinator), along with the faculty members of the Department of Physics and a few student participants of the 2nd and 4th Semester (Major) from the Department of Economics and Department of Geography. Dr. Roy, in her inaugural speech, highlighted the importance of soft and interpersonal skills for successful career progression in higher academia and industry. With the help of LaTeX beamer presentation projected via the Desktop PC at Prof. C.R.Basu Memorial Computer Laboratory, students demonstrated various projects ranging from “The Sundarbans: Tracking the Decline” to “Understanding Inflation Basics”, “The Falling Rupee: A threat to India’s Growth Story?” and “The Law of Demand and Supply in real markets”. Details can be found in the attached Participation photograph.

Students were informally evaluated based on (a) exhibited skills in preparing a Seminar with LaTeX Beamer, (b) engaging presentation, (c) content of the presentation, (d) articles and CV they had prepared using LaTeX. A token of appreciation for participation was given to them by Dr. Amit Kumar Bhattacharjee (HoD Physics).

The Workshop ended with a Vote of Thanks.

- EXPECTED OUTCOME: Soft skill enrichment of the Certificate Course students.
