Summary & Benefit of the Programme:

Students illustrated about any microorganism that starts with the letter of their first name, and they participated with enthusiasm and zeal. The event nurtured young minds and inculcated zeal of knowledge about various microorganisms ranging from virus to bacteria and even fungi, viz. Salmonella enterica, Staphylococcus aureus, Aspergillus, etc. were talk of the day. The competition had revealed in students, a professional approach of presentation and self evaluation skill as well as promotion of active learning and collaboration with peers. Students had displayed their idea in form of posters and short drawings which helped them to bridge a knowledge between theoretical as well as their illustrative thinking. There were a total of 8 participants in the program.

Title of the event: 2nd Seminar on Alumnus Lecture Series: Following the Footprints

Name of the Department: Biochemistry

Organizing Committee: Department of Biochemistry & IQAC, Asutosh College

Summary of the event:

The Department of Biochemistry organized its 2nd Seminar on Alumnus Lecture Series “Following the Footprints”. The speaker of the day was Mr. George Banik, Senior Application Specialist, BD Biosciences, Kolkata. He discussed about his journey in his career life and his present designation and responsibilities in the company. He also discussed about the protocol of applying in the company for the students after their graduation/masters. He vividly described the principle, protocol, rationale and the mechanism of instrumentation of Fluorescence Activated Cell Sorting (FACS) techniques.

Benefits/outcome of the initiative for the students:

The sole purpose of conducting the alumni lecture series in the Department of Biochemistry is to encourage the present students to develop meaningful ambitions in the subject areas. The seminar lecture gave an idea to the students about the techniques used in the field of cell biology. The topic discussed by the speaker was also a part of their curriculum. So they developed a vivid idea and concept about the technique discussed. This was an opportunity for the students to interact with their alumnus from their own department. This interactive and encouraging seminar was very much helpful for the students as this helped them to develop visions about the work that can be done after graduation or masters in the subject. This also helped to develop connections for the students to apply in the industries/companies in future.

“Celebration of 203th Birth Anniversary of Pandit Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar”

Write up:

Pandit Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar was born on September 26, 1820. The late Sanskrit scholar, writer, educator and philanthropist is known for his work on social emancipation and women upliftment. The 19th-century educationalist and social reformer challenged the thinking of society and brought a change which turns out to be a revolution at every social level. Between 1851 and 1855, Vidyasagar, along with other reformers, opened many schools for women across Bengal. He used his own income to open 35 schools and was able to enroll 1,300 students. He is known not only for his contribution in the field of educational and social reformation, but also for his literary works and contribution in the development of modern Bengali language. One of his popular creations is “Barna Porichay”, means introduction to the simplified Bengali alphabet. He was also known as the ‘father of Bengali prose’.

To commemorate Pandit Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar on the occasion of his 203th birth anniversary, teaching, non-teaching staff of Asutosh College and the students gathered at the common room of the college. The floral tribute to Vidyasagar was given by Professor Apurba Roy, Vice- Principal of our college followed by Dr. Rina Kar Dutta, Dr. Sraboni Roy, Dr. Sanchita Sanyal and all the teachers, students present over there. A brief talk was delivered by the Vice-Principal Sir on this special occasion to highlight the significant contribution of Vidyasagar (ocean of knowledge for his outstanding academic performance and brilliance) in the field of educational and social reformation. Vidyasagar strongly believed that everyone irrespective of caste or gender, had the right to education. Michael Madhusudan had given him the epithet ‘Dayasagar’ or ‘Ocean of Generosity’ for his selfless altruism. He was also a key figure in Bengal Renaissance. He fought for women education and vigorously challenged the barbaric practice of Child Marriage. He will forever be remembered for his work to Bengalis and the world.
