

TRIBUTE

After the extreme dominance of human race over the mother nature, the unprecedented retaliation took place in the first part of 2020 as the entire world experienced a devastating threat on human lives at the wake of Covid-19 pandemic. Amidst the anxiety, despair and panic the people who braved the pandemic wholeheartedly with all infrastructural limitation are none other than the doctors and health workers; the policemen, journalists, government officials, sanitation workers and so many people who volunteered to resist this pandemic. Any notes of praise and applause for the way they have shown the fight in their bellies defying the risk of infection and even clear threat to contagion to their dear families, will definitely be an understatement. They deserve a big salute from all the stakeholders. Let us all unite together and bow down to show reverence to such real responsibility and fight to save the human lives.

CONDOLENCES

The human race has faced a rollercoaster of unimaginable disasters and misery which has not yet ended. To begin with we had the COVID-19 outbreak and later got declared as a pandemic after hitting 114 countries globally. It took hundreds of millions of lives, and it still continues. Earthquakes, floods, hurricanes, and forest fires were rampant throughout the world including our country, killing millions, and rendering thousands homeless. The growing political unrest with the religious coercion, ongoing wars, terrorism, state seizures etc. has killed masses worldwide and filled the lives of the natives with poverty, hunger, and trauma. Previous year we lost a lot of significant people worldwide and most of us lost our loved ones. Even though words are too feeble to soothe the anguish felt, we empathize and convey our sincerest condolences to the families, friends, and close ones out there who suffered this fate.
